

Ice Music

A stoneage man has been frozen in ice for 2 million years. Gradually, as the sun's rays penetrate, the ice begins to drip, slowly at first, becoming quicker.

As the ice melts, the figure of a huge hairy man is revealed, and his heart begins to beat.

When all the ice has gone, the man looks around in silence. Suddenly, the man begins the ritual dance he was dancing before the ice came.